The hearing before Special Federal Referee Ferriss of Missouri in the government suit to dissolve the great oil combination was begun at New York, with Attorney Frank B. Kellogg representing the government and John G. Milburn and others as counsel for the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Kellogg submitted in evidence statistics compiled by the Standard Oil officials, showing that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey had earned profits in the last seven years aggregating $490,315,934, and that during the same time dividends had been paid to the amount of $308,359,403. These profits came from the plants owned by the parent company, as well as from those of the subsidiaries controlled by it. This was the first time in the history of the oil rectors of the New Jersey corporation. tain steady drawing upon capacity and had been made public. Son Shall Obey Master. The old idea of apprenticeship, long ago discarded, has been revived in Elkhart county. Isaiah Holderman has placed out his 12-year-old son with Irvin A. Long to remain until he reaches the age of 21 years. This step followed the death of Holderman's wife. The apprenticeship agreement has been publicly recorded, and it provides that the boy is to be taught farming and at the end of his term is to receive $200. He is to be fed, clothed and properly educated. In return the lad promises not to use tobacco in any form and not to drink intoxicating liquors of any kind. He is also not to gamble or play any games of 1198-Richard I. defeated the French chance. In the articles of agreement Long is referred to as the boy's master

Though Felled by Iron Bar, She Succeeds in Locking Door.

Felled to the floor by a blow from an iron bar wrenched from a bed by two escaping prisoners, Mrs. Albert Smutzer, dragged herself out of the cell corridor and locked the door, preventing the escape of eleven other prisoners. Mrs. Smutzer was on her way to give a sick prisoner a drink when attacked by Arthur Cummings and John Edwards, held for larceny, who made their escape.
